WHAT ONE TOWN DID IN CLEAN-UP DRIVE

According to the 1950 census Nixon, Texas, has a population of 1,834, but they conducted one of the most outstanding Clean - Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up campaigns in the nation.

Though the drive was originally set for a two-week intensive program, it has continued year-round. Guided directly from their 1950 National Cleanest Town Contest report, here is the Nixon Story:

"Other groups in addition to the Chamber of Commerce sponsoring the program were the City of Nixon, Volunteer Fire Department, Mimosa Garden Club, the Nixon Lions Club and Nixon P.-T. A.

"We placed a public address system on Main Street and talked about the need for such a drive, what results could be expected, etc. Over the P. A. system we complimented individuals and business houses for the work they were accomplishing. The speakers we used were businessmen, various members of ladies' clubs and several school students.

"We showed the picture, "The House in the Middle," daily at a theatre.

"The churches cooperated by using the message "Cleanliness is next to Godliness" in their sermons.

"Troop 278 of the Boy Scouts elected to care and generally spruce up the lions playground. The 4-H group chose the school playground as their project. They planted several small trees and shrubbery.

"Clothes pole was seldom used because of the upkept grounds. It was overgrown with grass and weeds, littered with paper and other refuse. After the drive, the grounds were used by many for picnics, for outdoor meetings, and more important, it provided a clean and safe place for the children.

"On each of the four highways entering the city, we have placed large signs advertising our town.

"A new project came into realization through this drive. The Chamber of Commerce in opperation with the Mimosa Garden Club decided to irritate a yard-of-the-month contest. A committee of three was appointed as inspectors. A certificate is presented to the homeowner naming the precinct, most planted or the most improved yard in town. A sign is then placed in the designated yard so everyone will know who has received the honor for this month.

"The seven gasoline stations put out large courtesy barrels asking the motoring public to please place all refuse in the barrels and not throw it along the highway.

"A special committee made up of 19 members, including volunteer firemen, city street department workers and some senior high school boys accepted the responsibility of cleaning up vacant lots and the removal of all eyesores. They cut, mowed and then burned 21 of these areas. They also removed 12 old stumps and dead trees.

"The Nixon Independent School District entered into his campaign wholeheartedly. The four school houses were cleaned and given a fresh coat of paint; the school grounds were cleaned and receptacles were placed in convenient areas for use as "litter cans; school rooms took on a fresher and neater look as scrap paper was not allowed to remain on the floors or in corners.

"It has been our experience that by making a cleaner and more attractive town that more people now live in Nixon than ever before and this means more business for the firms already established and causes new business to want to choose Nixon for their location."
